

Keizai Koho Center

<http://www.kkc.or.jp/english/index.html>

Established in 1978, the Keizai Koho Center (KKC) is the information and outreach arm of Nippon Keidanren. KKC is an independent, nonprofit organization supported by individuals, industrial organizations and foreign-affiliated firms. The Center's mission is to promote dialogue and understanding of Japanese business and society by sponsoring informational programs and events and through study trips which bring foreign scholars, businesspeople, educators, and journalists to Japan to help them learn more about the nation and its economy. Since 1980, through the Teacher Fellowship Program, Keizai Koho Center has invited social studies teachers from the United States, Australia, the United Kingdom, and Canada to Japan on ten-day programs designed to introduce Japanese culture and society to Western educators.

The Keizai Koho Center (Japan Institute for Social and Economic Affairs) is a private, non-profit organization that works in cooperation with Nippon Keidanren (Japan Federation of Economic Organizations) to foster better understanding of the goals and the role of business in a free society.

Keizai Koho Center Teacher Fellowships

The Keizai Koho Center (Japan Institute for Social and Economic Affairs) in cooperation with the National Association of Japan-America Societies (NAJAS) will sponsor a ten day Fellowship to Japan in Summer 2010 for educators in the U.S. and Canada. The Fellowship allows teachers to learn first hand about contemporary Japanese society and enhance their classroom teaching of global perspectives.

Fellowship Agenda

Fellowship Date (Tentative): First Week of July, 2010

The ten day itinerary in Japan will include time in Tokyo; tours of major industrial and corporate facilities; meetings with key business leaders; meetings with government officials, educators, and business people; school visits; discussions with teachers and students; and a home stay with a Japanese family. Typically, there is at least one scheduled visit to a destination outside of Tokyo.

Highlights

The Fellowship covers air transportation from the Fellow's home city to Japan and return, as well as accommodations, transportation as called for by the itinerary, and some meals. Fellows have the opportunity to learn about the Japanese economy and businesses, in addition to contemporary Japanese society. Roundtable discussions between Japanese teachers and the participants, as well as business leaders, will also be arranged.

While in Japan, Fellows will be required to give a short PowerPoint presentation regarding their Japan program experience or on educational issues in their home school. This presentation will occur at the end of the fellowship trip.

Eligibility

Applicants must have skills and experience in developing curriculum. This Fellowship is open to: Applicants who have never lived in Japan and have not visited Japan on a similar study tour. Middle and High school classroom teachers of Economics, Social Studies and History (grades 6-12). Supervisors, specialists, and school administrators at the district and state levels; and Faculty associated with 4 year colleges who are directly concerned with the training of K-12 teachers.

The demands of the itinerary are such that only individuals physically able to travel without special assistance should consider this Fellowship. Special diets cannot be provided and a smoke-free environment cannot be assured. Due to the nature of the program and logistical requirements, there will be no provisions for spouses to accompany Fellows.
